

Below (and attached) you'll find an invite to a free education session for parents and caregivers who have trans, non-binary, Two-Spirit, and gender creative children and youth in their lives (in their own family or not). The session will focus on how to be allies for gender diverse young people and to give parents and caregivers the opportunity to meet and connect with one another.

Feel free to share widely, and/or to share directly with people in your life who may benefit from this session. Thank you!

Workshop: Supporting gender creative children & youth

For parents and caregivers in School District 61

- Do you have a gender creative person in your family?
- Do you want to be a better ally to your child's trans, non-binary, and Two-Spirit friends and their families?
- Are you seeking support with advocating for your gender diverse loved one?
- Are you finding systems challenging to navigate?
- Do you want to take an active role in creating inclusive schools and communities?

Join Ambit Gender Diversity Consulting for an evening of education, resource connections, and space to explore your questions about how best to support the gender creative children and youth in your life.

When: Thursday, February 1st from 6:30-8:00

Where: The School District 61 Board Room, 556 Boleskine Rd.

This is a free event supported by School District 61
