

THE QUADRA WEEKLY BRIEFING

Dear Quadra Community,

We have had a great and very busy week. A very special shout out to all our Quadra Athletes who represented us incredibly well at the Zone Track Meet yesterday. Our grades 3, 4 and 5s did a great job running for Quadra – whether it was the 4 x 100, the 100 meters, or the 800 meters. Thanks to all our student athletes and the staff who supported them and a special thanks to our track coach, Ms. Tanya Timmermans.

We also hosted our first Welcome to Kindergarten evening in 3 years last night. A very big thanks to our kindergarten team (Ms. Read, Ms. Jodoin, Madame Dunn, Madame Tiringier) who hosted a wonderful event yesterday! It was so nice to see our new students in person this year for the first time since the pandemic. It was a well-attended affair that saw many smiles on many faces! Thanks again to all those who made this very important evening possible.

Today we were honoured to host the Yellow Wolf Singers, an Indigenous performing group who sang and drummed for both our primary and intermediate groups in two separate assemblies. The two performers not only explained the importance of the songs they were singing and what they represented, they also gave students an insight as to other important aspects of their culture and its teachings. Both our student groups did a great job of respectful listening! Many thanks to the Yellow Wolf Singers for their performance and the knowledge they imparted upon our students. Special thanks to Sierra Lewis, Quadra's Indigenous Youth and Family Counsellor, for organizing this event.

The end of the school year can be an exciting and nervous time for students, especially for those who will be making a major transition into elementary school or middle school. For these students, there are many curiosities and questions about academic difficulty, managing a social life and handling coursework.
