

THE QUADRA WEEKLY BRIEFING

Dear Quadra Community,

It is very hard to believe that we will enter into the month of March next Wednesday and have only 4 months left in the school year!!

This week was Crossing Guard Appreciation Week and many of our classes created cards, posters and art work to give to our wonderful EAs who are out on the street, keeping our students safe every morning and afternoon. If you happen to pass them by during their crossing duties, please give them a big thanks for the work they do.

We had our Pink Shirt Day assemblies this week. Through songs, skits, and a story, students learned (more) about the history and meaning of this day. They were encouraged to think of ways they can be kind every day.

A gentle reminder: Our local temperature has dipped of late and although we will see a rebound next week, daily highs will vary between 4 and 7 degrees. Please ensure that your child/ren is dressed for cold weather, as we will be going out for recess unless we have an extreme weather event.
