

THE QUADRA WEEKLY BRIEFING

Dear Quadra Community,

With Spring Break just a week away, students and staff alike are coming to school with extra energy and excitement! Continuing with the Spring Break theme, all our lost and found will be set out in front of the school starting next Monday and remain there during school hours all week. All items not claimed by Friday afternoon will be donated. Whether you have a long lost item or something just went missing, please come by during the week to see if it is here!

Please remember reports card are being sent home with students on Thursday, March 16.

Pull Through woes: I was recently alerted to a Facebook post that featured one of our parents blocking the sidewalk on Quadra street with their vehicle. This poses a serious safety threat to all who are using the sidewalk in our community. I am aware that our pull through has its issues, but if we all followed the rules (do not leave your vehicle unattended, do not double park, do not block the sidewalk, if all drop-off/pick up spots are full, you must find an alternate spot or cycle through, be courteous and respectful to staff as they are there to keep students safe, be courteous and respectful to one another), some of these problems would not occur.

If all parents who live within walking distance avoided driving to drop off or pick up (if physically possible) we could, perhaps, alleviate some of our issues concerning our pull through.
